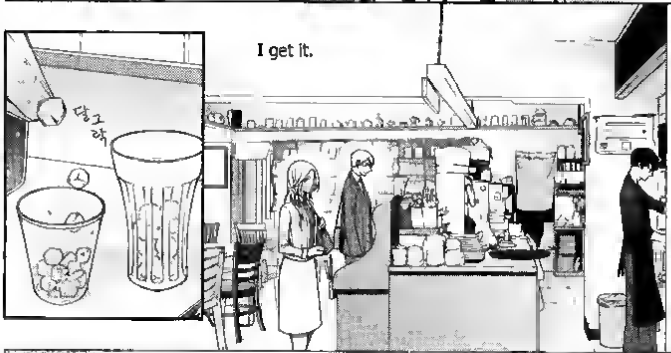
It's pretty obvious that they have positive feelings toward each other...
Yet, they've been like that for a month.



I get it.

The guy isn't good at this and is just wasting his time without even being able to initiate a proper conversation.
The woman is going to get tired soon and probably that will be the end of this.

Come to think of it,
it has always been the woman who greeted him first.

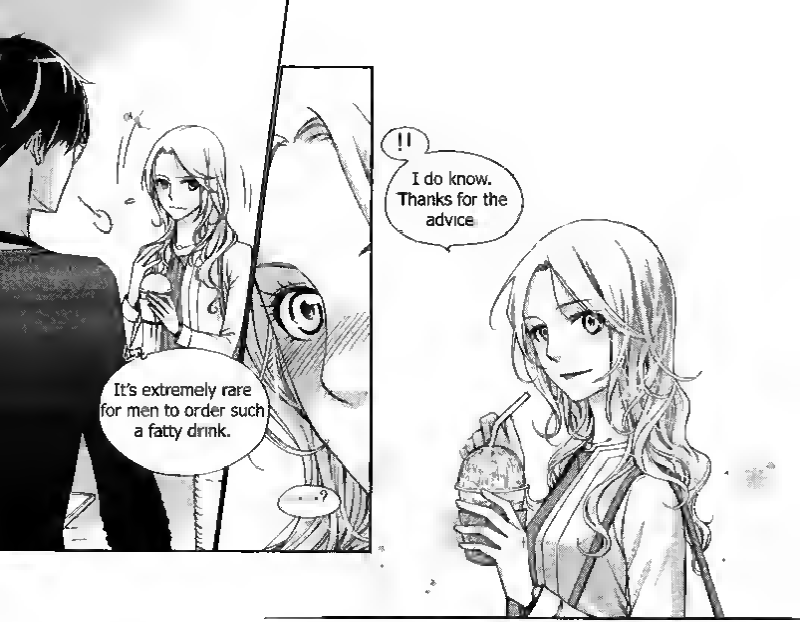
"Hello, again"

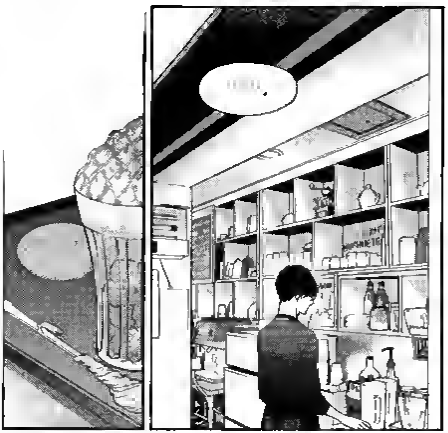
They are ...

Like me ...

Your usual order,
dutch milk, whipping cream,
caramel syrup, with powdered
coffee on top



It's extremely rare for men to order such a fatty drink.
...?
!!
I do know. Thanks for the advice.



.....

She is strong.

Unlike me ...

Your order, your usual order, dutch milk, whipping cream, caramel syrup with powdered coffee on top, is here, sir
I have a question to ask!
Ah!!
About the woman, does she come here on the weekends as well?

No,
she does not.
She has been coming here pretty much on clock for a month though.
Looks like
she found someone she may like.
She has a boyfriend?!
What?
Why can't he get the cue?
... Um ...
I know of a friend who had a similar situation as yours.

Both of them had feelings toward each other clearly but it didn't work out well in the end.
Both of us were simply looking over at each other.
And in the end, it ended without even talking to each other once.
Making such a rare order at the same time
It may have really been a mere coincidence the first time, but it may be the start

So,
I advise you not to make her wait too long.
Do not make yourself regret later.

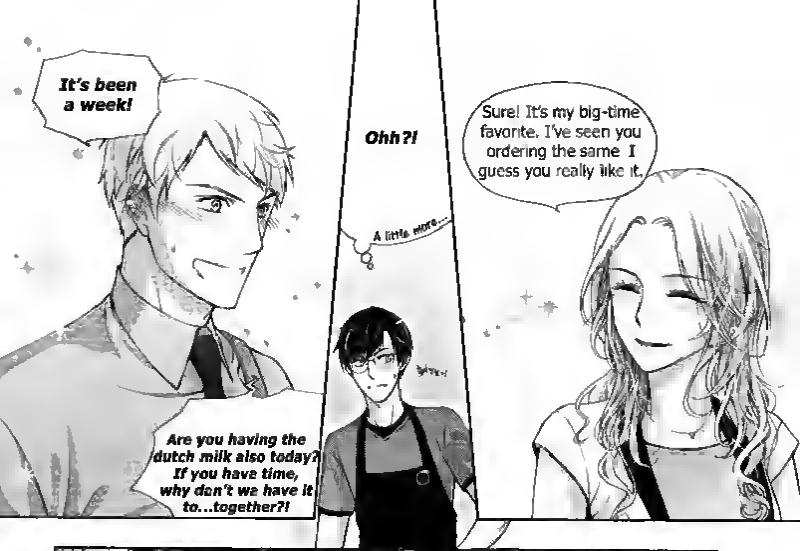
Ah, yes
Dutch milk and -
Dutch milk - Oh !
H-hello!
Hello.
Oh, the guy greeted her first this time.
Excuse me -



It's been a week!
Ohh?!
A little more...
Sure! It's my big-time favorite. I've seen you ordering the same I guess you really like it.
Are you having the dutch milk also today? If you have time, why don't we have it to...together?!

Should I combine the orders?
